CHAMPAGNE & SPARKLING WINE

(Including Rosé and Sweeter Styles)

With Champagne, it's all about house-style. Taittinger is lighter with more emphasis on fruitiness, elegance and charm with a refreshing quality. The Louis Roederer style is rich 'biscuity' and with a lingering mouth-feel and classy finish. Veuve Clicquot revels in a decadence that fills the palate. Rosé Champagne is so fashionable frivolous and chic with its delicate salmon colour and fruity refinement. Moscato Rose is sweet, intense and velvety. Prosecco is light and dry. The Domaine Carneros has great charm and personality.

ROSÉ & BLUSH

Rosé is the quintessential summer wine. Dry, subtle, alluring and delicate. Yet somehow remarkably full and flavourful. A joy to sip on with plates of fresh seafood or even sandwiches and snacks. Generally considered the pinnacle of this category, Provence Rosés have a lovely fragrance and a light, fresh grapey mouth-feel. The White Zin has a touch of sweetness.

OFF-DRY OR FRUITY WINES WITH A LIGHT KISS OF SWEETNESS

These wines are perfect for palates that prefer their wines not so dry. They are also great with spicy foods and ethnic dishes. Think of ripe, tropical, yellow and orange fruits like apricots and peaches for the flavours you'll find in the Moscato coupled with a very low alcohol content (5.5%) and a soft, light bubble, for a lovely easy to drink wine. The German wines have great fresh acid with flavours of grapefruit and citrus; great with sushi, wasabi and ginger infused dishes. The Pinot Gris is off-dry with light apple, pear and almond nuances. The Gewurztraminer has a lovely perfume of lychee's and rose water, a delightful sip by itself or with food.

DRY, LIGHT AND CRISP REFRESHING WHITES

These are all light wines with little or no oak involved. Some are delicate, others are fairly intense. What they all have in common is a refreshing, lively and zesty acidity with a crisp finish. Flavors of lemon, lime, grapefruit, gooseberry, green apples, asparagus, kiwi, melon and cut grass are some of the nuances to look for. These wines go well with lighter white meat, fish and shellfish dishes or where accompanied by a white wine sauce.

MEDIUM TO FULL-BODIED INTENSE WHITES

Wines of an intense, robust nature. Overall these wines possess a big mouth feel. Oak is more a noticeable component here though very carefully balanced. These wines will be creamy, rich, round and balanced in the mouth with no hard acidity. The flavors can be diverse but look for butter, straw, apples, apricots, peaches, almonds, vanilla, toast and citrus. These wines go very well with creative and bold flavoured cuisine or where heavier sauces are included.

DRY, LIGHT AND SOFTLY FRUITY REDS

Light and easy with soft tannins. These wines are characterized by very light tannins and a soft easy mouth-feel. They can benefit from being served with a light chill and make good light-weight summer reds.

312	Beaujolais, Louis Jadot	Beaujolais, France	2017	$56.00
311	Fleurie La Reserve, Villa Ponciago	Beaujolais, France	2014	$56.00

MEDIUM BODIED, SAVORY REDS WITH SOFT TANNINS

Silkiness and charm are the buzzwords here. Not too heavy, not too light. A sense of balance is the overall feel. Lots of differing personalities makes this an interesting group with a full flavor spectrum though it tends towards red-berry fruits and light vanilla, toasty components. Some will have overtones of exotic spice such as clove, cinnamon and nutmeg and maybe a little smokiness. Lighter red meats, fowl and game dishes work really well as do salmon, tuna and pasta.

RICH ROBUST AND POWERFUL REDS

Big wines with plenty of everything. A big multitude of styles and flavours. What they have in common is complexity, depth and power. Yet there is elegance and refinement. Tannins will be plentiful but in most cases it is the old phrase "an iron fist in a velvet glove" that comes to mind. The best have exquisite length of finish. So many nuances to look for but some examples would be; cassis, blueberry, blackberry, cedar, cigar-box, leather, vanilla, smoked meats, toast, black pepper, dark chocolate, mocha, dried dates and exotic mushrooms. Hearty cuisine and rich sauces are the calling here.
